INTRODUCTION

A) Cryptocurrencies, which are both a digital bearer asset and a payment system, like the first cryptocurrency, were developed with the main purpose to make possible exchanges between people, in the digital environment, in a totally decentralized way, in other words, without the intermediation of a trusted third party, usually a financial institution.

In this context, it is evident that, in addition to make possible direct exchanges from person to person in the digital environment, which is widely known as peer-to-peer (P2P)[1], there is an expectation that these transactions will also be truly simplified, from a perspective of practicality and sability, in a way that anyone able to operate a smartphone and a messaging aplication, will also be able to perform transactions with cryptocurrencies, making this part of their daily routine.

Although the cryptocurrencies have, in general, successfully achieved the purpose of serving as a medium of exchange between people in the digital environment, it is certain that still remains the expectation of making this process truly simpli□ed, allowing for all people, with much or less echnology skills, full access to the emerging cryptocurrency market and its many bene□ts, which, it is important to note, are not only limited to cryptocurrency transactions and the possibility of safeguarding your own money without the need for a third party con□dence, but also access to exclusive services and investments of this peculiar market.

B) Abstract

You have probably heard about cryptocurrency. This has been a talk of news sites and blogs lately.
Did you know that blockchain and Bitcoin are two different things? But how can they help you?
Do you run a small business, like a restaurant and want to keep your costs down, provide great customer services and always attract new customers?
Best of all, you're perfectly on the right track to join the new global cryptocurrency economy! We'll briefly cover some of the benefits of this new payment transaction technology and how you can start accepting cryptocurrencies in your business, such as Basecoin.

What are the benefits of accepting cryptocurrencies in your business?

 Reduce your costs associated with accepting customer payments.
 Expand your business by attracting new customers.
 No intermediaries and third parties.
 No payment restrictions.

Expense reduction

One of the main goals of any business is to keep costs down while maintaining quality. Basecoin as well as other cryptocurrencies can significantly reduce your costs for accepting payments from customers. In addition, funds are available immediately because there are no third parties involved, such as a payment processor or bank, to wait for the funds to be settled and sent to your account. You can see that the funds haver been received and use them without waiting days or weeks.

C) Increase your customer base

Being known as a business that accepts cryptocurrencies will attract new customers. Technology-savvy customers, as well as people who want to control their own finances, are increasingly using cryptocurrencies, and with each passing year adoption increases

You can gain publicity and knowledge of your business through merchant directories that list businesses that accept cryptocurrencies. If you run a company that can provide services or ship internationally, you can also easily accept payments with complete confidence that the transaction is complete and accurately settled by accepting the cryptocurrencies.

Business owners can benefit from joining a community and becoming trusted and known to frequent customers.

You can also pioneer this growing community and help your customers realize the other benefits of using cryptocurrencies. This includes maintaining the privacy of your customers because there are no intermediaries or third parties for payments. It is also very easy to convert from a cryptocurrency to local currencies for your business accounting using platforms available in your country.

And finally say that Basecoin will be a differentiator for your company.

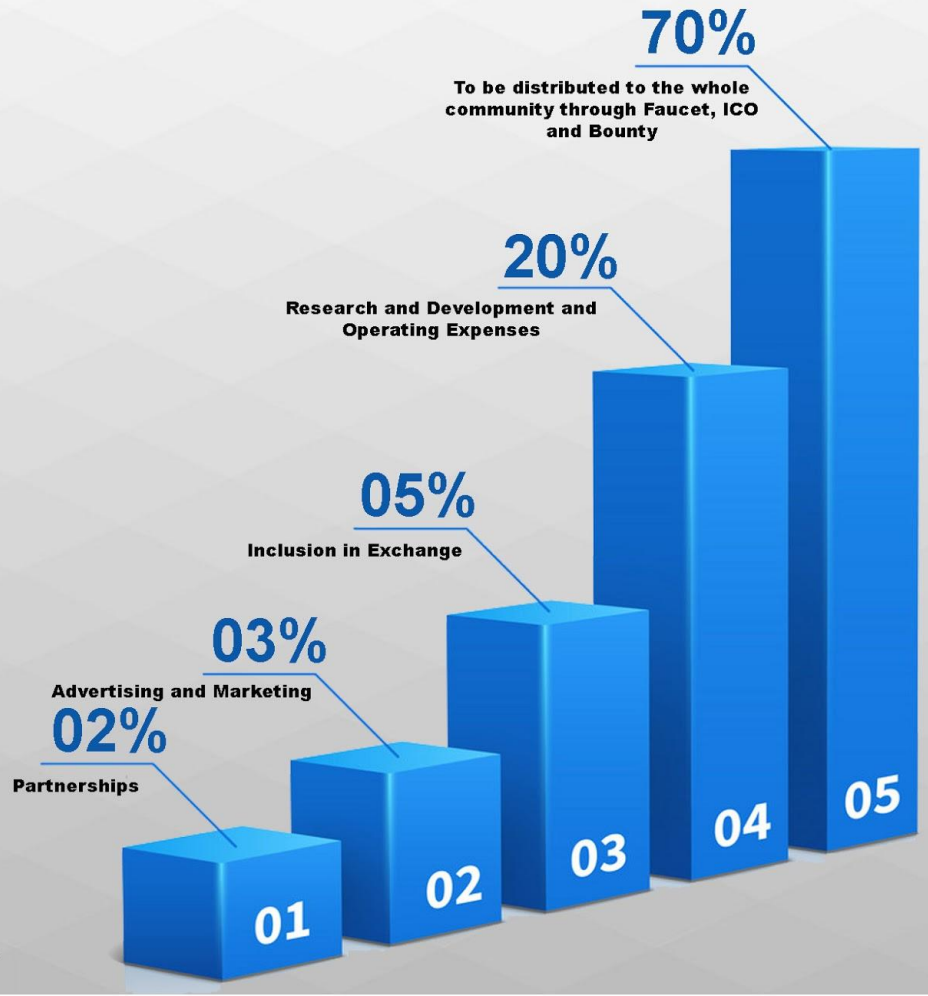
What is Basecoin?
Basecoin is a decentralized token aimed at day-to-day adoption and usability and designed with independent development.

What is your purpose?
Its main purpose is to be an alternative means of payment in physical and online wholesale and retail and also for payments of bank slips, vouchers, telephone bills and other types of services.

Why Basecoin?
Adoption / Usability / Benefits / Freedom
A peculiar feature of Basecoin is to provide convenience and security when making your transactions.

Safety / Comfort / Easy payout / Daily cashout / Smart and undiluted applications

BASECOIN DISTRIBUTION



Basecoin Governance

Resource fund in Token Basecoin with a platform for making proposals, voting and execution of independent projects related to the token BAB development.

BASECOIN WALLET

Basecoin (BAB) the token that enables blockchain mass adoption
A TRC-10 utility token based on the TRON blockchain to foster faster speed on the world's largest decentralized application.

What is wallet for?

This is basically a digital recipient in which a user can store his or her crypto coins, just as he would store cash and coins in a normal wallet, which recipient has one or more unique and public receiving addresses generated by the cryptocurrency´s blockchain, and managed through a mobile application, a computer program, or a cloud system on internet.

Basecoin would use decentralized portfolios like Tronscan and other mobile applications (Trust Wallet, Tronlink Pro, among others ..)

SWAP

Why did we switch from ERC20 to TCR10?
The Swap was made for several reasons:
1- Make the transactions have zero fee.
2- Agility in transactions, now we have instant send
3- Possibility of Staking
4- Effective blockchain
5- Implementation of governance and votes using the TRON network.
Among other benefits ....
